

'Tis the Season to Wrap Up Some Savings...

December 2011

Be greener than you think by wrapping up some energy saving tips for your home this heating season!

- Set your thermostat between 65° and 68°F, health permitting, and your nighttime temperature at a lower setting. For each degree you lower the thermostat you can save about 1% on your gas bill.
- Regularly change or clean air filters as required. Heating units use less energy and work more efficiently when filters are not clogged or dirty.
- To prolong the life of your furnace and decrease energy usage, have your furnace checked by a licensed HVAC contractor. To locate a licensed contractor in your area, visit swgasliving.com or call our Energy Specialists at 1-800-654-2765.
