

Dry. Save. Repeat.

Natural gas doubles up your drying power in the laundry room. That's because drying laundry with a natural gas dryer is less expensive to operate than an electric model. Drying two loads of laundry in a natural gas dryer costs the same as drying one load in an electric dryer. And since the average family of four does eight loads of laundry per week*, the savings really pile up!

DRYING TIPS:

- Clean lint screen after each load
- Don't open dryer door unnecessarily
- Read fabric care labels for proper settings
- Remove clothes as soon as dryer stops, to avoid wrinkling
