

LAUNDRY DAY IS SAVINGS DAY

Did you know drying laundry with a natural gas dryer is less expensive than using an electric model?

That's right, drying two loads of laundry in a natural gas dryer costs the same as drying one load in an electric dryer. And since the average family of four does eight loads of laundry per week*, the savings really pile up!

When it's time to replace your dryer, the natural choice is the clear choice. Let the Southwest Gas Energy Specialists help you with the next step, even if you're not sure your home has a gas line for a dryer.

ENERGY AND MONEY SAVING TIPS

- Read garment and fabric care labels for proper settings
- Save on drying time by drying similar fabrics together
- Clean the lint filter after each use. A clogged lint trap will reduce air-flow and dryer performance, driving up your energy usage
- Dry full, but not oversized loads. It's more energy efficient than drying smaller loads or overloading the machine as air needs to circulate through the laundry freely
- Ensure faster, more even drying by separating lightweight fabrics from heavy ones
- Don't open the dryer door unnecessarily as it lets heat escape
